

LINE OF DUTY MEDICAL

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT

FOR VETERANS

You are here for one reason: the medical evidence in your VA claim. We are a medical practice founded by two physicians. One is a U.S. Army veteran with deployments behind him, so he understands what you are going through. The other has spent 30 years practicing medicine, taking care of those who have served this country. This sheet is the whole deal, costs included. Read it once and you will know exactly where you stand.

YOU RISK

$350, nothing more, until you decide

YOU GET FIRST

Only what your claim needs

BEHIND EVERY OPINION

Both physicians, every time

IT STARTS WITH THE REVIEW

$350, AND IT MAY BE ALL YOU NEED

Send us your claims file, or have your attorney or VSO send it. If you do not have your C-file, we will help you request it from VA. A physician works through the complete record, however thick it runs, and gives it to you straight in writing: which conditions the record supports, what your claim needs, and what it does not. This is the only money you spend before you know where you stand. If you continue, $150 of it comes off your total. If the record cannot carry a claim, you hear that too, in plain words, and you are out $350 instead of a year of your life.

THEN, ONLY WHAT YOUR CLAIM NEEDS

THE REVIEW DECIDES, NOT A SALES PITCH

THE NEXUS OPINION: $1,250 OR $1,500

For when the VA says your condition did not come from your service. A written medical opinion, built from your record, explaining why it did. One condition is $1,250. One opinion covering two or three conditions together is $1,500 total.

THE EXAM FORM (DBQ): $500 OR $750

For when your rating does not match your reality, most often on an increase claim or after a rushed VA exam. A Disability Benefits Questionnaire is the VA's own exam form, one per condition: $500 completed from your records, or $750 with an in-person examination by our physician, the version VA raters weigh most.

You may need one, both, or neither. The VA runs its own exam on every claim at no cost to you. If that free process is enough, we tell you so. We write a Nexus opinion when the VA disputes that your condition came from service, and we complete a DBQ when it makes your evidence stronger. The review tells you which ones your claim needs. An exam can also turn up a related condition, like a hip pointing to the knee. If that happens we tell you, and you choose whether to add a form for it. We never add one without your say-so.

THE PRICE LIST

FIVE PRICES. THAT IS THE WHOLE MENU

WHAT	PRICE
Records review and written assessment Every engagement starts here, paid when we begin. If this is as far as your record can go, it is the only thing you ever pay.	$350
Nexus opinion, one condition	$1,250
Nexus opinion covering two or three conditions One opinion, one price for all of them together.	$1,500
DBQ, completed from your records Used where your records already hold current findings, like blood pressure logs or sleep studies.	$500 each
DBQ with in-person examination Our physician examines you and completes the form from the exam. The version raters weigh most.	$750 each
Your credit: $350, fully credited. If your claim continues past the review, the full $350 comes off your total. It is a single credit per engagement, not a discount on each item.

What real engagements cost, start to finish.

EXAMPLE	THE MATH	TOTAL
Just the review The record cannot support a claim, or the free VA process is enough. You stop here.	$350	$350
Nexus opinion for one condition	$350 + $1,250 - $350	$1,250
One exam DBQ for a rating increase	$350 + $750 - $350	$750
The full package Three exam forms at $750 each make the $2,250.	$350 + $1,500 + $2,250 - $350	$3,750

A TYPICAL ENGAGEMENT NEVER EXCEEDS

$4,000

More than three supportable conditions? Evaluating the extras is your call, never a requirement: $400 for each added condition in the opinion, plus that condition's DBQ at the prices above. A fourth takes your total past the $4,000 typical maximum, and you will know that in writing before any work starts. You decide.

PAYING FOR IT

YOU NEVER PAY BLIND

The $350 review is paid up front by secure card link, marked LOD MEDICAL on your statement so you know it is us. After your assessment, you choose how to pay the rest, and we do the work as it is paid for: each piece of your engagement is completed and released once your payments cover it. Nothing is worked on credit, and nothing unpaid ever releases. Same total both ways, no interest, no fees.

OPTION 1: TWO PAYMENTS

Half of your remaining balance now, the other half thirty days later. On the $1,250 example, you paid $350 at the start, so $900 remains: $450 and $450.

OPTION 2: THREE MONTHLY PAYMENTS

Your remaining balance split into three equal monthly card payments, each arriving by email with its own secure link. On that same $900, $300 a month.

Money tight? Say so. Do not walk away from a supportable claim over a payment date. Call the office or reply to any email from us and we will work it out. That conversation is always welcome.
